rather astonishing events took place around the Black Sea some 7,500 y A.

Ocean levels were about 400 ft lower than now (about 20K ago until 8K)

With water flooded down to the Black Sea Basin, then out through a series channel into the Mediterranean connected to world ocean @ Gibraltar, so flow of fresh water through the Black Sea was downhill no transpiration - glaciers retreated & multivalleys from glaciers began to flow north depriving Black Sea of replenishment. Level of Black Sea began to drop. Area at north of Black Sea becomes dry land - now several hundred feet below that of the Mediterranean (separated by the Barren of Bosphorus (then dry land)).

The Mediterranean broke through & flooded the Black Sea basin.
